Transcript of final conversation with Client

Note: Transcript has been edited for readability

IB LEARNER: So, now that you've had a chance to use the program for a week, what do you think of it?

CLIENT: It's great! Really! Thanks! I'm still amazed that you can make such a thing. I could never do that.

IB LEARNER: Well it did take pretty long. I'm glad you like it. Hopefully it'll be useful. So any feedback? Any bugs you noticed, perhaps?

CLIENT: Actually, I did notice this one thing. I'm using the random password generator for most passwords, but for one I tried to type my own really long one. It was something like 30 characters, and when I saved it, the end of it wasn't properly hidden with those stars like the others.

IB LEARNER: Hmm, interesting, I'll look into that. Anything else?

CLIENT: Well it works flawlessly otherwise. But a feature that's kinda missing is the date last changed for the master password. It shows me the date for all the other passwords, but not the master one.

IB LEARNER: Oh yea, I should have thought of that. That's a good suggestion.

CLIENT: You want more of them right? Suggestions. I don't wanna seem like I'm being nit-picky.

IB LEARNER: Yeah, yeah, the more suggestions you have the better.

CLIENT: Well, the interface is a bit bland. I mean, don't get me wrong, you did a great job with the icons and all, but like the white background is kinda…I don't know. Boring? It would be nice if you could choose a background there. You know, like on Gmail.

IB LEARNER: Right. Makes sense. What about the background on the starting page? Would you like to be able to change that too?

CLIENT: Yeah, sure. Hmmm, that's it to be honest, I don't have anything else. Honestly, it's great! Thanks so much!

IB LEARNER: You're very welcome.